VII International Scientific Conference “e-Governance”,
13-14 June, 2015 Sozopol, Bulgaria

We cordially invite you to send a request to participate in the VIIth International Scientific Conference (ISC) on the theme “e-Governance”. The forum is organized by Technical University of Sofia – R & DS, Research and Education Centre for “e-Governance” in the Faculty of Management and Centre for Media Communications and Technologies.

The plenary session of the VIIth ISC “e-Governance” will be held under the motto “Technical University of Sofia – 70 years innovative solutions” on 13th June, 2015 in the town of Sozopol, Bulgaria. The ceremony will be broadcasted online.

The aim of the conference is to explore the challenges of the e-Democratization process and the active participation of citizens in administrative and management processes relating to the implementation of the latest information and communication technologies. The focus of VII ISC “e-Governance” is on impact of e-Governance in the development of modern society, both in the theoretical aspect and as practical solutions.

Themes will include, but will not be limited to:

- e-Democratization and Management Processes
- e-Governance State of Arts and Trends
- e-Governance Education
- Public and Business e-Governance

The VII ISC “E-Governance” stimulates collaboration, discussions, sharing ideas and exchange of experience among academics, researchers and practitioners of all countries. Innovative presentations, practical experience and case studies on topics such as open government, collaboration modelling, videoconference interaction, virtual administration, cloud services, smart technologies, paperless management, and others are encouraged.

All sessions will be supported with video conference connection. Participants will be able to take part on site or distance (remote) via Web based videoconferencing.

To increase the involvement of young researchers their presentations will take place on work shop also. The winners of student’s course works/projects and PhD competitions can present their results. Show forum for ”good practices” demonstration in public and business administration will take place.

All accepted and registered papers will be included in the VII ISC “e-Governance” Proceedings with ISSN 1313-8774. The selected papers will be submitted for inclusion in the SSRN e-library with citation index.
